

◆

During this slower time which winter brings, we want to encourage you to spend time each evening reading to your family. We relish the hours we spend reading each evening. It is such a tremendous blessing to settle down together each night to hear wonderful stories before we drift off to sleep. Jon and I take turns reading while the children work on puzzles or crafts or just snuggle up with us on our bed. It is truly our most beloved family ritual.