This year for Jedidiah's birthday lunch, I took him to 94th Aero Squadron restaurant. Although not a favorite of mine, it is especially appealing to young boys. It is named and decorated in commemoration of the first American fighter squadron to see combat. Rickenbacker was one of their most well known comrades. An old jeep sits out front; fighter plane wings hang from the ceiling; and memorabilia covers the walls. However, the most exciting feature is that this restaurant sits alongside Lambert's runway so you can enjoy takeoffs and landings during the entire meal. The boys loved it!
